CFSB CENTER

In 2010, the Racers home got a new name when the Regional Special Events Center became the CFSB Center. In 1998, the Racers moved into the building and have now called it home for 16 seasons.

Since 1998, the Racers have enjoyed a big home court advantage as Murray State is among the best in the nation with an outstanding winning percentage. Heading into the 2012-13 campaign, 15 years in the new facility, the Racers have a .619 winning percentage in the CFSB Center. The Racers ended thier 15th season in "The Bank" with a overall record of 117-72. The Racers have had great success in the building, which includes the teams longest home-winning streak of 21 games from Feb. 2, 2008 to Nov. 21, 2009.

Before the start of the 2009-10 season, the CFSB Center saw two huge video boards installed above gate-A and gate-B. The video boards made a great game atmosphere even better. Now fans can come to the game and see replays and other features during MSU contests.

The CFSB Center was completed in June of 1998 after the Kentucky State Legislature committed 18 million dollars to the project and MSU came up with two million. The CFSB Center is a popular destination for the people of the Purchase Area of Western Kentucky as it also hosts annual events that include high school basketball playoffs, concerts, trade shows and Murray State commencements.

The Racers have a great locker suite that is the hub of activity especially when the season is going on. MSU student-athletes have a modern, private locker area that features individual cubicles and the team gathers in a ready room that has theatre-style seating for film study and a large TV-lounge area where the team can relax after practice or a game. The room also has a small kitchen. The MSU coaching staff also has a spacious locker area and office. MSU student-athletes also have access to a modern 3,000 square foot weight room in the CFSB Center. The Racers take advantage of the weight room to get bigger, stronger and faster.

SHEILA SMITH

Guard • 1985-89

Hometown:
Memphis, Tenn.

You can't talk about Murray State women's basketball without talking about Sheila Smith, one of only two MSU women's players to score more than 2,000 career points. The Memphis, Tenn., native tallied 2,287 points in her four seasons with the Racers.

Smith ranks ninth among all OVC players in career scoring, and still has the most single-season points by class for a freshman (484), sophomore (529) and junior (611) at Murray State.

Smith holds the MSU record for career field goals (892), is third in career free throws (467), and fourth in steals (200).

She was a driving force behind the success of the 1985-89 teams, culminating her career at the 1989 Women's NIT.

Smith was inducted into the MSU Athletics Hall of Fame in 1998.

MICHELLE WENNING

Guard • 1987-91

Hometown:
New Washington, Ind.

Soon after Michelle Wenning arrived on campus, it was obvious that she would be a leader at Murray State and in the Ohio Valley Conference. That fact played out for Wenning after a brilliant four-year Racers career.

Wenning is second on the Murray State career free throws (528), field-goal percentage (.561) and career rebounds (1,027).

The New Washington, Ind., native became only the second Racers to grab more than 1,000 points and ranks fifth on the MSU career scoring list with 1,724 points.

She, too, played a pivotal role in the success of the 1987-91 Racers teams, which averaged 17.3 wins per season and went to the 1989 Women's NIT.
